JELLYBEAN PARTY

WHAT IS A JELLYBEAN HENS PARTY?

ARTICLE WRITTEN BY BEC OF 'FOR EVERY HEN'

To be honest... a Jellybean party doesn't have much to do with jellybeans at all!

Rather than cramming sweet, coloured lollies into your mouth (which does sound like a good time, don't rule it out), this theme is all about coordinating outfits and beverages.

How?

Before the celebration, each guest is assigned one colour. It is then up to them to not only find an outfit in their particular colour, but also a drink! So, for example, say that I was assigned 'red'. I would turn up to the party in a red outfit, holding a bottle of red wine.

The range of outfits and drinks is what creates an incredibly bright and fun atmosphere (and you'll be testing out beverages you've probably never heard of before - in all the colours of the rainbow!).

Jellybeans also welcome.

THE OUTFITS

As mentioned above, this party is ALL about the outfits!

There are no limits on what a guest may wear. As long as they're in their assigned colour, they can do as they please. The results are likely to range from glamorous right through to hilarious (and it's this fabulous contrast that will make for many wicked photos and memories).

THE FOOD

When it comes to the food, anything goes!

A flexible theme that encourages a range of colours, tastes and textures; you can go crazy with fruits, delectable desserts, salads, cheese platters, grazing tables, chocolates, ice-cream, iced biscuits, lollies (even, dare I say it... jellybeans!).

As long as you end up with a range of hues, the fun vibe of your celebration will continue on the food table.

THE DRINKS

There are a couple of options when it comes to drinks.

First, you could hire a bartender for the night; someone who can work their magic with the huge variety of wines, spirits and mixers that will be brought to your celebration. Cocktails, punch, mocktails - the concoctions they whip up will be both surprising and delicious!

And second; a DIY bar. Set up a dedicated 'bar area' whereby guests can create their own masterpieces from the assortment on hand. To help with these creations, print off a variety of cocktail recipes that can be followed to a tee (or changed up slightly to suit individual taste). Whether or not guests' decide to use these recipe cards depends on how confident they are in their beverage making skills. And for those who go free-range, you never know, they may just create a drink that soon becomes a favourite of the party!

THE DECORATIONS

As you may have guessed by now, this theme revolves around colour. BUT when it comes to the decorations, sometimes less can be more.

We love starting with a white base. White tablecloths, white or clear vases (jars work a treat for this!), white plates, white bowls, white wooden tables, white crates (that can be filled with food, flowers or even favours), etc. From here, add the colour piece by piece - and don't stop until you're satisfied with the overall look.

Decorating in such a way will result in many different styles - some venues will resemble a beautiful rainbow, whilst others will become sophisticated backdrops complete with pops of colour. No matter what the finished product, it will be YOU and it will be AMAZING!

You may like to add one or more of the following to your decor:

- Colourful flowers overflowing from vases
- Fabric bunting strategically hung throughout the venue (depending on the look you're going for, this can be placed over food tables, across rooms, along fences or even between trees)
- Colour changing lights/fairy lights (dig into your Christmas box and use your beautiful stash to illuminate the party)
- Frame colourful party signs (these can be anything from a 'Welcome' sign through to a 'Photobooth' sign)
- Colourful foods and drinks displayed on top of your white tablecloths
- Photos placed around the venue - either in coloured or white frames. Op-shops are great for picking up a range of cheap frames (and whilst browsing the aisles you may also find some other weird and wonderful treasures perfect for your event!)

Alternatively, host the event in a garden and/or by a pool. Outdoor tables, picnic rugs, festoon/fairy lights, fabric bunting and rustic touches, combined with nature's colours - it's the ultimate and most beautiful backdrop for any warm weather 'jellybean party' celebration!

PLAY SOME COLOURFUL GAMES

When it comes to pre-wedding celebrations, there are an abundance of games and activities for you to choose from (for bridal shower game inspiration, click here; for hen party game ideas, click here). But if it's jelly bean party games you're after, the following tweaks to classic options may be of interest!

BEAN BOOZLED

Will it be chocolate pudding or stinky socks? Only time will tell! For this jellybean challenge requires that guests spin the wheel before picking a jelly bean in the colour that it lands on. Will the chosen bean be wild? Or completely delicious? It's just a risk you're going to have to take...! Click here to grab your Bean Boozled game now!

HOW MANY JELLYBEANS

Fill a jar with jellybeans (making sure you count them as you go). Record the total and keep it hidden. Place the jellybean jar, some paper, pens and an empty jar on a table. Now you're all set to play!

Throughout the celebration, guests can go to town guessing how many jellybeans it took to fill the jar. They can do this by writing their name and guess on a piece of paper, before folding it up and placing it in the empty jar. When you're ready, check the guesses. Whomever was closest to the actual number is announced as the winner! This lucky person gets to claim victory by downing all of the jellybeans (cue sugar overload).

PLAYDOUGH SCULPTURES

Whip up some colourful playdough before the celebration (click here for a great homemade recipe).

On the day, this game can be played in teams or as individuals (make your decision based on how much playdough you have!). To play, each team/individual is given some playdough and asked to mould a penis within a certain time-frame. Give prizes to the best shaped pecker, the biggest pecker, etc. (get creative and have some hilarious prizes to go with your hilarious categories)!

Don't want to mould a penis? Have teams mould a man, mould parts of a man, or mould the bride instead!

SCAVENGER HUNT

This is such a fun game for those heading out and about! Make a list of colourful items that guests have to find and either photograph or video themselves with. For example, drinking a cocktail that matches your outfit, eating an ice-cream that matches your outfit, dancing in front of a rainbow, next to a sign that is the same colour as your outfit, holding a small bag of jellybeans, etc.

Have a prize for the team/individual who finds (and photographs/videos) everything on their list first!

TRADE IT

Another option for the hen do heading out. Hand your bride-to-be a bag filled with small packets of jellybeans, and explain that she is to trade these for unusual items throughout the night. Can you imagine the hilarious objects and stories this game will result in?!

Hot tip: You can involve everyone in the fun if you wish. Simply present guests with 2 small packets of jellybeans each, and explain that these are not to be eaten (unlucky!), but to be traded for random items throughout the night. The guest with the most unusual trade at the end of the celebration wins a prize!

IT'S TIME TO PLAN YOUR EPIC JELLYBEAN PARTY!

Now that your mind is overflowing with inspiration, it's time to put your ideas to paper and get planning! A theme that is not only unique and easy to pull off, but also super fun, your jellybean party is guaranteed to be hit with hen and guests' alike!

As always, I'd love to hear your ideas/real life experiences – so please share your pictures and/or jellybean party ideas with myself and the rest of the For Every Hen community (via email - bec@foreveryhen.com.au - or social media).

Cheers to an incredibly memorable celebration!

Much love, keep smiling

MURDER MYSTERY HEN DO: IT'S GUARANTEED TO BE A KILLER EVENT!

ARTICLE WRITTEN BY CHRIS OF MURDERMYSTERY.COM.AU

Most people are novices when it comes to organising a hen's night. Maybe you have done it before for another friend but often it is a first for you.

Now being a bloke, you wouldn't think it, but I have been to many hen's parties.

Before you ask, no I'm not a stripper.

I run murder mystery parties.

The biggest challenge I find for first time hen's night organisers is that you have a wide variety of friends to entertain that don't know each other.

You have a couple of friends from primary school, a few more from high school, Sally from accounts at work, the netball girls, Kim from the gym, the groom's mum, aunty Sue and granny Betty.

All these groups have little in common and when I turn up at a hen's do you can often cut the tension with a knife.

What a bachelorette party needs, is a way to break the ice, get people mingling and generally relaxing and having a great time.

Some hens are happy with booze and strippers, but many aren't.

If you have a hen to look after that isn't after the more traditional hen's night, then a murder mystery party could be just perfect for you.

A murder mystery game will give your party guests a focus and a reason to mingle and interact with each other. Murder mystery parties are a lot of fun and will ensure your hen's night is a massive success!

We have two main murder mystery themes that people tend to pick for a hen's party.

Bogan Bride and the Billionaire is super fun and actually begins with a wedding event. Sadly, the wedding turns sour after the bride is poisoned and drops dead at her own wedding.

Wild West seems like an unusual theme for a hens, but in this story line one of the characters gets married to her Native American lover. There is a sub plot where two other characters have babies, and these babies are swapped at birth.

If you don't need a wedding, we have a wide range of other story lines to suit your hen.

I am very confident that a murder mystery party would be an awesome addition to your hen's adventure.

HOW TO PLAN THE PERFECT PICNIC PARTY

ARTICLE WRITTEN BY BEC OF 'FOR EVERY HEN'

Picnic parties are fast becoming one of the most popular ways to celebrate a bridal shower, kitchen tea, and even part of a hen party. With beautiful scenery, amazing company and all the food/drink you could ask for, it's easy to see why!

With tips for finding the best location right through to picnic games and activities, we not only share how to host a picnic party, but also some of the best picnic ideas around. With this inspiration your event is bound to be a raging success!

LOCATION: FINDING THE BEST PICNIC SPOT

When hosting a picnic party, location is key! Will it be indoors or outdoors? At a house, in a hotel room, at the park, near a beach, in the backyard, or in a garden?

Whichever you decide, it needs to be suitable for your celebration.

‘Make sure you have parking options, toilets close by, and chairs for the elderly’, Kelly of Little Miss Party Planner suggests. Kelly also recommends checking with the local council that picnics are ok. ‘The last thing you need is a ranger telling you to move on!’, she says.

Ebby of Little Bird Events agrees, adding that you should ‘make sure the bride loves where you’re going, and if outdoors, scope it out beforehand [at the] same time of day your party will be; so you can check how busy it is and where the shady spots are’. The more planning you do upfront, the better your day will flow in the end’, says Ebby.

When looking for the best picnic spots keep an eye out for:

- Parking options
- Public transport
- Toilets
- Shade (good options include trees, gazebos or umbrellas. If there are none at the location already, can you bring your own?)
- Chairs for the elderly (again, if there are no chairs/tables at the location, is it possible to bring some yourself?)
- The amount of people in the area (How early will you have to get there to secure your favourite spot?)
- If kids are attending the event, is there enough space for them to run around? Or a playground they can use?
- Council restrictions (are there any that will affect your day?)

WHAT IF THE WEATHER TURNS?

Knowing exactly what you'd do should the weather turn will ensure that your indoor picnic party will be just as magical as any outdoor gathering would have been.

'Find a wet weather option as a back up JUST IN CASE; a house or private venue that can be hired is perfect for this' says Kelly of Little Miss Party Planner.

Once you've chosen a backup venue, take a moment to look around. Take note of the layout and any other important details (such as toilet location, parking, etc.). You can then put together a basic plan that includes where you would set up the picnic, and where you would set up any pre-organised games/activities.

This will result in WAY less stress should the weather not be in your favour on the actual day. Rather than panicking, you can spring straight into action!

ARE YOU HAVING A THEME?

Are you thinking of having a picnic party theme? If it's something you're considering, ask yourself the following question: What type of celebration would your guest of honour love? Relaxed? Classy? Elaborate? Fancy dress? Tailor your theme to the answer.

To help get you inspired, we've outlined a few picnic theme party ideas below:

BOHO

Oozing fun and creativity, this style draws on natural materials, comfort, colour and patterns. Follow these easy instructions to create your own stunning DIY boho picnic.

SEASONAL

Pair your décor with the current season – taking inspiration from the colours around you. For example, a summer picnic party could feature bright hues and tropical foods, whilst an autumn picnic could feature natural materials (such as pallet tables) alongside yellow, orange and red shades. A Winter picnic is the perfect excuse to incorporate a fire pit, marshmallows and cosy blankets, whilst a spring picnic could be based on soft tones and stunning floral decorations.

TROPICAL

Bright and bold, a tropical picnic party is all about the colour and summer vibes! To learn how to create your own paradise inspired event, follow this link.

VINTAGE

Retro items combined with music of the eras; a glamorous, timeless, sweet and fun Vintage picnic party will have guests questioning whether or not they actually time travelled!

THE SEATING SITUATION

How will you be picnicking? Whether you're chatting around an established picnic table, sprawled across picnic rugs on the ground, seated at a portable table, or even have a few of these options on offer; just make sure it's planned. The last thing you need is to arrive at your beautiful location, food and drink at the ready... and nowhere to party!

Tip: Think about who is attending the celebration. Elderly guests and heavily pregnant women, for example, may find it difficult to get up and down from picnic blankets. In this case, actual seats and a table would be a welcome addition to the day.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR PICNIC AREA 'POP'!

Once you've decided on the seating situation, it's time to think more about styling. How are you going to create the look you're after? To help inspire you, we've outlined our favourite picnic party décor tips below:

PICNICKING AT AN EXISTING TABLE

Established picnic tables are often wooden, which is absolutely perfect for rustic themed parties. If, however, this doesn't work with your vision, a table cloth is the easiest and most effective way to transform the space.

PICNICKING ON RUGS

Strategically place a few rugs on the ground. Don't be afraid to layer them to achieve both style and comfort. Some themes will call for rugs in similar hues, whilst others will encourage strong colours and patterns.

Once you have the base sorted, it's time to up the comfort factor. Throws and cushions, in a range of shapes, sizes and textures, will make your picnic area incredibly inviting. Cushions are great for sitting on, whilst throws will provide warmth on cooler days. Ottomans are another stylish and comfortable option.

PICKNICKING AT PORTABLE TABLES

These can be hired or brought from home. If they're not in the best state, no drama. Cover the table in a reusable table cloth. A simple fix with instant results!

START STYLING

Once you're happy with the base that you've created, it's time to bring in some accessories! Flowers are always our 'go to' décor. You will notice the immediate change in atmosphere when you bring them in. For some wonderful ways to display beautiful blooms at your celebration, click here.

Another instant atmosphere boost comes from lighting. Both festoon and fairy lights provide just the right glow, as do tealight candles.

Other gorgeous accessories that can be used include table runners, fabric napkins, balloons, tassel and/or fabric garlands, blackboards or other forms of signage, and any items that have a special meaning to your bride-to-be (even the smallest personalised touches can make the biggest difference to her day!)

EASY PICNIC PARTY FOOD

Planning a picnic menu doesn't have to be stressful.

Simple yet filling finger-foods are a great option, especially if they can be prepared a day or two in advance. Mini quiches, tea sandwiches, sub sandwiches, fruit kebabs, scones, wraps (served as is or sliced), dips (served with a variety of breads) and strawberries in chocolate are just some of our faves.

Grazing platters are also a wonderful and filling option without much, if any, need for cutlery and plates. Cheese, antipasto, bread and dip, fruit – there are so many delicious platter options that are guaranteed to satisfy a hungry stomach! And despite their impressive looks, they're quite easy to put together. Everything you need to know about crafting a masterpiece on a board can be found by clicking here.

And finally, mason jars filled with edibles, such as salads or desserts, can be a fun touch (dessert jars just happen to make fab favours, too!).

Tip: Grazing platters can be ordered from local small businesses, as can finger food, desserts and other delish picnic party options. If you find catering for a celebration overwhelming, and you can work it into your budget, getting the professionals to sort out this part of the day can be a huge weight off your shoulders. That, or rope in some friends/family to help with the baking!

QUENCH THAT THIRST WITH SOME DRINKS

Make sure your guests' stay hydrated with a range of delicious beverages. 'Any drinks that are easy to make onsite and can be offered via jugs or a drink dispenser are great' says Kelly of Little Miss Party Planner, 'we recommend bubbles or a punch'.

To view some of our favourite punch recipes, click here. If you'd rather serve a jug filled with cocktails, view our favourite recipes here!

NON-ALCOHOLIC DRINK OPTIONS

When it comes to big celebrations, it's worth including some high-quality non-alcoholic drinks. 'Non-alcoholic drinks are a great way to pace yourself, especially if you are at a daytime event [such as a picnic]. Try swapping every other drink for a non-alcoholic one', suggests Sans Drinks founder, Irene Falcone.

There is a huge trend for non-alcoholic drinks at the moment. 'Behind this is a shift to a more mindful way of drinking and an acknowledgement that non-alcoholic drinks are better for our overall health', says Falcone. The recent surge in popularity could reflect the quality of non-alcoholic drinks. 'Gone are the days when a non-alc wine would essentially be grape juice. Now most non-alc wine is made in the same way as traditional wine – the alcohol has just been removed at the end', Falcone explains.

For a celebration hen party picnic, Falcone recommends a premium non-alc sparkling wine such as Thomson and Scott Noughty or Wild Life Botanicals Sparkling Blush. 'I'd also include some ready to drink mocktails such as Naked Life Negroni or Lyre's Amalfi Spritz'.

DISPLAYING YOUR FOOD & DRINKS

After whipping up a divine assortment of cold bevies and edible goodies, it's time to think about how these masterpieces will be displayed!

PICNICKING AT A TABLE

Grazing platters or trays of food look stunning when draped down the centre of tables. If you would prefer less clutter, a separate table can be set up purely to display food and bevs (acting like a buffet, or even a cheeky drink station, for your picnicking pals!).

PICNICKING ON A RUG

Trays and platters of food can be simply placed on your rugs, ready for guests to dig in. Alternatively, low-to-the-ground tables (wooden pallets are fab for this) can be set up - ready to display your food, drink and more.

You may also like to get creative. Old trunks make it easy to transport items from home to the location, but they also double as a unique surface for displaying your glorious selection of food and beverages.

And finally, as mentioned above, there is also the option of setting up a 'buffet' table nearby!

PLAY SOME AWESOME PICNIC PARTY GAMES

Alongside your typical hen party and bridal shower games, picnic parties also lend themselves to some alternative (yet oh so memorable) options.

LAWN GAMES

Giant jenga, oversized chess, bocce, croquet. Not only do enormous games lead to huge amounts of fun, but they're also enjoyable for guests of all ages.

PING PONG

Who doesn't love a cheeky game of ping pong? If you have a friend or relative who doesn't mind parting with their table for a few hours, it's well worth setting up at your picnic. A great ice-breaker and super fun, this is sure to be an unexpected hit!

PROSECCO PONG

Ping pong's racy cousin (and Beer pong's better half) will get those competitive juices flowing! To get started, set up a table with 5 reusable cups at each end (like a triangle). Teams then take turns sinking a ping pong ball into their opposing team's cups across the table. Ball in your cup? You drink. First to sink all of the cups claims victory and bragging rights!

PICNIC PARTY ACTIVITY IDEAS

A picnic party is an activity in itself. Beautiful backdrop, delicious food, refreshing drinks and amazing company - bliss! But if you want to surprise your beautiful bride-to-be with another wonderful experience, why not organise for someone to come to you, in this stunning location, and keep the party going?

Some of our favourite activities to pair with a picnic party include Paint 'n' Sip workshops, flower crown workshops, life drawing classes, wine tasting experiences, or even a leisurely bike ride. For the bride who loves a bit of competition, hilarious inflatable games (such as bubble soccer) are always a hit, as are adult laser tag parties (there will be so many places to hide from opposing team members in a garden!). You could even put up a volleyball net and enjoy a game or two in the sunshine.

BEST THINGS TO TAKE TO A PICNIC PARTY

From the set-up through to the food, drinks and activities, this quick list outlines exactly what to bring to your picnic party; making it easier for you to check off those all important items!

- Jugs, drink dispensers and/or an ice-bucket
- Alcoholic and non-alcoholic drink options
- Champagne/wine glasses, cups, or even mason jars with reusable straws
- Food (what's a picnic without edibles!)
- Condiments
- Cutting board and knives (in case any food needs to be divided among guests... such as cake!)
- Utensils
- Mason jars or small vases (these are great for holding items such as spoons, forks, knives, napkins, etc.)
- Jars, containers, baskets with compartments and straps, insulated totes and/or bags with padding (to transport everything to your picnic location)
- A cooler or larger ice packs/ice to keep food cold (if needed). Hot tip: place this in the shade so that it stays cool longer.
- A tray (especially handy for backyard picnics – the tray can be used to transport food from the kitchen to your yard)
- Blankets, throw pillows, ottomans and a low table (such as palettes), if you're planning to picnic on the ground.
- Table cloths (if you wish to use and cover an existing bench or table at the picnic location)
- If the weather is cooler, some additional throws that guests can drape over themselves to keep warm
- Decorations (flowers, vases, table runners, ottomans, etc.)
- Any items needed for planned games and/or activities (including lawn games)
- Something to transport everything from home to the party location (picnic baskets with compartments and straps, insulated totes, and/or bags with padding to cushion breakables)
- Cleaning items (such as paper towel, sponges and garbage bags)
- A box for recyclable items

PERSONALISED PARTY TIP :

A Meaningful Poem

Put your heads together before the big day and come up with a cute (or hilarious!) poem about your beautiful bestie and her friendship with each of her guests.

This task can be made easier by asking everyone attending the party to email you details (e.g. how they know the bride, funny stories about the bride, favourite memory with the bride, etc.). You can then incorporate all of this information into the ultimate poetic story! Print onto nice paper, read to the party at the start of the celebration (hello, wonderful ice-breaker!) and then gift to the bride (who can keep it as a beautiful keepsake).

That's aMAZEing!

There's a new game in town, and it's quite aMAZEing if you ask us! ;-) Ok, we'll stop now.

But seriously, NEW printable 'Beat the Clock' maze games are now available (find them all here!).
The perfect way to get those competitive juices flowing! Enjoy x

THE FUN ACTIVITY THAT WILL TAKE YOUR BRIDE'S OUTFIT FROM ZERO TO HERO!

This fun bachelorette idea can go one of two ways.

First, your beautiful bride-to-be steps out in a gorgeous outfit, more than ready for her pre-wedding shenanigans. Or second; she is draped in hilarious items that would make fashion gurus around the world quiver!

The result lies in your hands, party people, for this activity requires that you help dress the bride...

Learn how over the next few pages!

HOW TO 'DRESS THE BRIDE'

PREPARATION:

This activity can be for the bridesmaids alone, or you can get the entire guest list involved. Whichever option you choose, first thing's first: you need to assign one item per person. For example:

- Person 1: Hair accessory
- Person 2: Gloves
- Person 3: Scarf
- Person 4: Sunglasses
- Person 5: Jacket
- Person 6: Earrings

If there is a large guest list/group of bridesmaids, you could break into small teams - working together to find some glorious outfit gold!

DRESSING THE BRIDE:

To make sure this outfit comes together perfectly, organisation is key. Set up an announcement (for party-goers eyes ONLY - this is to be kept hush, hush from the bride!), and let them know the plan:

Step 1: In the lead up to the event, everyone participating is assigned an item

Step 2: Each person (or team) purchases their item

Step 3: Each person works their magic and gets those items to the celebration without the bride-to-be seeing

Step 4: Head bridesmaid announces that you've got a little surprise. Guests' then proceed to 'dress' the bride with each item, one at a time!

Step 5: Many happy snaps are taken and many laughs are had

ALTERNATIVE WAYS TO PLAY:

ADD SOME RULES

Rather than letting guests purchase what they please, set some rules. For example, items must be purchased from an op shop, items must be found around the home, items must be in a particular theme, or items must be in a particular colour.

THEME IT

As mentioned above, you may like to set a theme rule for your accessories. Some examples include:

- A pirate theme: where an eye patch, pirate hat, bandana, and even a mini pirate flag may make an appearance - turning your bride-to-be into the ultimate scallywag!
- A glam theme: providing your girl with some of the finer things in life

- A colour theme: by requesting that each participant purchase an item in a particular shade (pink, for example) or shades (such as pastel colours), your hen will be a colour co-ordinated vision!
- A raunchy theme: I think you know where I'm going with this. If there's an accessory in an inappropriate shape, it's obviously a must for this celebration!

As you can see, the options are quite endless when it comes to theming your accessories!

Handy hint: Surprising the bride-to-be with a fancy dress hen do? Ask her to turn up in a white dress (so that she feels comfortable - which is a must on her special day); then bring the theme to her outfit with an assortment of accessories (picked especially for her by each guest!).

AFTER A SWEET PARTY GAME?

PREPARE TO FALL IN LOVE WITH 'THE JAR'!

After a sweet party game? One that works for a huge range of events (not just hen parties and bridal showers)?

Let me introduce you to 'The Jar'.

The sweetest game there ever was, this jar will end up holding memories that will last a lifetime! Read on to learn more.

PLAYING THE 'JAR' GAME

YOU WILL NEED:

An empty jar (obviously!), some small pieces of paper and pens.

PREPARATION:

On a table, set up your empty jar alongside some paper and pens. Make sure this table is easily accessible so that guests can participate in the game throughout the party. That's it - done and dusted until everyone arrives!

HOW TO PLAY:

Once everyone has arrived at the venue, let them know that there is a special jar sitting on a table. This jar is currently empty, but by the end of the celebration you expect it to be overflowing.

Why?

Because this jar is all about remembering the good times!

Each time a guest experiences something funny, sweet, nice, fun, etc. throughout the day/night, they have the chance to write it down and place it in the jar. Over time, these notes will build up to create a wonderful picture of the celebration - through the eyes of bride-to-be and guests' alike.

Following the event, your bride-to-be can then re-live the BEST times, over and over again!

Hen Party Warning: Imagine the stories and funny notes as the night goes on... the more drinks downed, the more outrageous they'll become!

ALTERNATIVE WAYS TO PLAY 'THE JAR' GAME

A GAME WITHIN A GAME:

Encourage everyone to leave little notes by turning it into a competition! Hand out short checklists with different types of memories to be recorded. For example, 'a funny moment', 'a sweet moment', 'something that made me happy cry', 'something that surprised me'. The first to write notes for each of the items on their list gets a cheeky prize. But the real winner in all of this is the bride, who will have even more memories to look back on!

TIME IT:

Add a clock to the table and ask guests to record the time at the top of the paper when they write their note/s. After the event sort messages into time order, meaning you can re-live moments as they actually happened!

READ THIS ARTICLE ON 'FOR EVERY HEN' BY CLICKING HERE.

A HALLOWEEN HENS : LET'S GET SCARY!

Halloween is just around the corner. And if your bride-to-be loves everything about this spookfest, why not add some 'scare-factor' to her upcoming celebration?!

From costumes and decorations, to food and drink, there are so many ways to bring the Halloween theme to life. Here are a few of our favourite tips - enjoy!

TRICK OR TREAT... FOR ADULTS

On a table labelled 'Trick or Treat', have enough drinks for each guest attending. As guests arrive, ask them to pick a beverage. The twist being that some are tricks (i.e. water, juice, etc.) and some are treats (i.e. cocktails, straight shots, etc.)!

Fun tip: this game can also be played in the style of 'spin the bottle', however you place shot glasses in a circle and guests spin the bottle, taking whichever shot it lands on. Once again, some shots are tricks and some are treats!

EASY DECOR TIP

Decorating your venue doesn't have to be hard or expensive. In fact, this cheeky tip will have each and every room looking haunted in no time!

Hang 'spider webs' in corners and across objects in each of your rooms. These 'webs' can be created from cotton balls, and then placed into your compost bin after use (click here for DIY instructions)! So simple and SO effective!

FREAKY FOOD

This is the best time to get your creative juices flowing! Unique food layouts/construction is where you will win in this theme. You can make food anything from cute (for example, biscuits decorated as smiling pumpkins) to downright creepy (such as biscuits made to look like witch fingers).

The choice is entirely yours! But just how many guests will be able to stomach what you serve...?!

Announcement

We're very excited to announce that For Every Hen are now partners with One Tree Planted!

This wonderful non-profit is dedicated to global reforestation; planting trees to restore nature and biodiversity, whilst raising awareness about the importance of trees.

Our printables require paper - so to give back more than we take, we will be donating 10% of every sale (which is equivalent to one tree being planted for every four printables sold!).

This means that, at no extra cost to you, the games and/or signs you purchase will not only add to the fun of your celebration, but will also contribute to trees being planted around Australia and the world (making a positive impact on nature, wildlife and people)!

Starting in August 2021, donations are made at the end of each month. We will keep you updated on the number of trees planted (and any other info) at this link.

TREAT GUESTS TO SOME DELISH

Appetisers

AVOCADO DEVILED EGGS

RECIPE & IMAGE PROVIDED BY: OH MY! CREATIVE

A fabulous finger food option as they are naturally bite-sized, these deviled eggs will be a favourite of anyone who loves themselves some guac and a bit of spice. But don't let a little heat put you off! Recipe creator, Susan, notes that thanks to a mix of paprika and cumin, this bridal shower food has 'the right hint of spice... just enough to make your eyes pop', but not enough to 'make you run for the bread'!

CHICKEN BOUCHEES

RECIPE & IMAGE PROVIDED BY: THE FLAVOR BENDER

After a unique and tasty appetizer? Treat yourself to some of these Chicken Puffs! Dini of 'The Flavor Bender' believes these 'bad boys should come with a warning label' as 'you'd be surprised at how many you can put away without breaking a sweat'!

Easy to make and, more importantly, delicious, learn how to make these beauties by clicking here.

AVOCADO, OLIVE & JALAPENO DIP

RECIPE & IMAGE PROVIDED BY: THE VEGAN LARDER

The most divine combination of avocado and spice, this not quite guacamole dip is a great party starter! Louise & Vanessa of 'The Vegan Larder' hit the nail on the head when describing this bridal shower appetizer as 'creamy from the avocado, salty from the olives [and] spicy from the jalapenos' (or in other words 'everything you could ever want from a dip!').

VEGETABLE TORTILLA ROLL-UPS

RECIPE & IMAGE PROVIDED BY 'GET SET VEGAN'

Treat vegans, vegetarians and meat-lovers alike with these tasty, flavoursome vegetable tortilla roll ups (that can be prepared in just 10 minutes)! Filled to the brim with goodness, these plant-based beauties will 'surprise your taste buds'. Slice into small rolls and serve for a delicious and filling wedding shower food idea.

BAILEYS OREO BROWNIES

RECIPE & IMAGE PROVIDED BY: SWEET MOUTH JOY

Alcohol infused brownies that ALSO contain Oreos? The perfect treat for any kind of pre-wedding shenanigans; recipe creator, Kachina, will send guests to boozy brownie heaven with this delicious mix of Baileys Irish cream liquor, Oreo cookies and chocolate!

GETTING THE MOST OUT OF YOUR COCKTAILS

DIY OR PROFESSIONALLY MIXED?

DIY cocktail mixing stations can be a fun and interactive way for guests to quench their thirst. To set up, place recipes, spirits, mixers and garnishes on a table. Those in need of a refreshment can then help themselves, letting their creativity run wild! Alternatively, professional bar staff can be brought in to work their magic (they may even teach you a few cheeky mixing tricks whilst they're at it).

Note: Cocktail mixing can be a great hen party activity. Whether it's DIY (most delicious cocktail, as awarded by the bride, wins) or a mixology class with a professional - everyone is bound to enjoy making and, more importantly, downing their wicked creations!

THEME IT

Have a theme for your celebration? Why not serve a cocktail (or two) that fit in seamlessly with the look/feel you're going for? For example, if your theme is based on particular colours, such as blue, you might decide to offer blue lagoon cocktails. A pink event might feature Pink Lady cocktails. On the other hand, a James Bond themed celebration would suit martinis (shaken, not stirred!); and a Halloween themed Hens Party is best paired with more horrifying options (such as Witches Brew or Midnight Fog). A tropical celebration pina coladas, and a winter soiree some mulled wine.

MAKE IT PERSONAL

Rather than serving a range of different drinks, why not select one or two 'signature' cocktails for the affair.

For example, serve your best friend's favourite cocktail - the one she always goes for on a night out! This simple touch will show just how well you know the bride-to-be and just how much you want to make the day special for her.

The other option is creating a cocktail especially for the event itself. Give it a name and serve it all night long - just be sure to taste test prior to the big day (you want this to be a memorable refreshment... but for the right reasons!).

THE BEST NON-ALCOHOLIC DRINKS

( + WHY YOU SHOULD INCLUDE THEM ON THE MENU )

IMAGES & ARTICLE PROVIDED BY: IRENE FALCONE OF SANS DRINKS

I've been to several hens' parties over the years. I've wrapped brides to be up in makeshift toilet roll dresses, danced to essential party playlists and drunk bubbles in celebration.

But the last few times I've swapped bubbles for a mocktail. Has it made the party feel flat? Nope, not at all.

Not drinking at a hen's party may not be everyone's cup of tea (or bubbles in this case), but offering non-alcoholic options to your guests creates an inclusive environment.

Cutting down on alcohol doesn't mean cutting down on fun!

MORE MINDFUL DRINKING

Increasing numbers of people are choosing to drink less or drink more mindfully. They're more aware of their alcohol consumption. Rather than sitting in on every round, they're choosing to sit out.

According to an Australian Institute of Health and Welfare (AIHW) triennial survey, the number of people who have quit drinking rose from 1.5 million to 1.9 million between 2016 and 2019.

The main reasons?

People are choosing to avoid the roaring hangover and accompanying hangxiety that follows a night of drinking. They're choosing to put their mental and physical health first.

HEALTH & WELLNESS

Moderating alcohol or swapping drinks for non-alcoholic versions is like hiring a great health coach, but without the cost.

The rewards are reaped both inside and out, and people are embracing this.

Improved skin, improved energy levels, better sleep, reduced anxiety and a slimmer waistline. What's not to like? Then there's the fact that a reduction in alcohol lowers the risk of diseases such as cancer, heart disease and stroke.

There are so many non-alcoholic alternatives available, but here are my top picks to get your party started!

NON-ALCOHOLIC DRINK IDEAS

THOMSON & SCOTT NOUGHTY

Our best-selling bottle, and one of the closest in taste, mouthfeel and aroma to an excellent French Champagne. Made from Chardonnay grapes, this sparkling wine is pale in colour with an extra dry, crisp taste. You can get it here.

WILD LIFE BOTANICALS SPARKLING NUDE

An award-winning wine that is packed with an impressive array of plant powered benefits. It has aromas of gooseberry, greengage and young banana, and the finish is dry yet refreshing. You can get it here.

MONDAY CLASSIC G&T

This pre-mixed gin mocktail boasts all of the aroma, mouthfeel and taste of a traditional Dry G&T. It has notes of sea salt, cinchona bark, quinine, bitter lemon, lime, and juniper berry. You can get it here.

NAKED LIFE WIMBLEDON SPRITZ

Tahitian Lima and Nigerian ginger, lightly sweetened and top noted with distilled botanical of cucumber give this Pimms-inspired spritzer a deep and complex taste profile. You can get it here.
